Description

The LIGHT Gallery collection documents the lifespan of LIGHT Gallery, from its inception in 1971 to its closure in 1987. The collection contains distinct ephemera including correspondence, financial records, and artist files. LIGHT gallery was the first art gallery that devoted itself to the retailing, exhibiting, and promotion of contemporary photography. The gallery sold prints from renowned photographers including Ansel Adams and Paul Strand, and it represented artists including Aaron Siskind, Harry Callahan, and Garry Winogrand.

Quantity: 69 linear feet

Biography/History

Tennyson Schad, owner and founder of LIGHT Gallery, was born on August 12, 1930, in Larchmont, N.Y. Schad attended Williams College and graduated from New York University Law School, with a specialization on First Amendment law. Schad began his law career as an associate with Cravaath, Swaine & Moore, eventually establishing his own firm, Norwick, Schad & Goering and worked as an editorial counsel for Time Inc. It was during this time that Schad met and married photography editor Fern Schad and developed a passion for photography. According to his wife, Schad conceptualized photography as a collectible and decided to open up a gallery to promote this vision. At first, Schad considered photojournalism as the genre to sell, but after being introduced to the works of fine-art photographers such as Harry Callahan and Aaron Siskind, Schad decided to devote himself to the market of contemporary fine-art photographers.

In 1971 LIGHT Gallery opened at 1018 Madison Ave at 78th Street in New York City. LIGHT Gallery was the first art gallery dedicated exclusively to the promotion, exhibition, and sale of contemporary photographers and their work. LIGHT is credited with enabling a market for contemporary photography to develop. In 1976 Schad moved the gallery to 724 Fifth Avenue. He hired the last official director of LIGHT, Robert Mann, in 1983 with the mission of liquidating or resurrecting the gallery. LIGHT Gallery closed in 1987, although Shad continued working from home.

In the sixteen years of LIGHT's existence the gallery represented numerous artists including Harry Callahan, Aaron Siskind, Frederick Sommer, André Kertész, Emmet Gowin, and Garry Winogrand. Moreover, LIGHT influenced an entire generation of gallery directors such as Harold Jones, Peter MacGill, Robert Mann, Laurence Miller, and Charles Traub.

Scope and Content Note

The collection contains correspondence, financial documents, exhibition programs, photographic materials, and ephemera documenting the business, cultural, and artistic influence of LIGHT Gallery. The collection documents the lifespan of the gallery from 1971, when it first opened its doors to 1987 the year the gallery closed.

During processing brackets were placed around folder titles given by the processor, whenever possible folder titles remained unchanged. Box 32 Folder 24, and Box 33, Folders 1-4 are restricted due to the nature of the contents, if access to these sections of the collection is needed please contact the archivist.

The collection is divided into five series: Artist Files, Staff Files, Business Files, Second LIGHT and LIGHT L.A., Memorabilia and Photographic Material. Each series is subsequently divided into sub-series. The series Artist Files contains records of artist represented and sold at LIGHT including correspondence, invoices inventories, and exhibitions information. The Staff Files series documents members of the staff and directors of LIGHT. Although there is series devoted solely to Business Records, records dealing with financial and business activity can also be found within this series especially within the Fern Schad and Tennyson Schad sub-series. Within the business series records documenting LIGHT's, finances, accounting, banking, sales, and taxes can be found. In the series LIGHT L.A. and Second LIGHT documents pertaining to business, sales, and artists' handled by these galleries can be found. In the series Memorabilia oversized artifacts such as newspaper clippings, exhibition posters, signs, and gallery seals can be found. Within Photographic Materials oversized negatives, prints, and pieces of art can be found.
